

Glen Stark

INITIAL STATEMENT

"What we do and how we do it always impacts the World".

The world's economy & politics are in deep crisis. While some countries and unions were able to maintain the appearance of well-being, today, more and more people look at the future with fear and concern. Thousands of children die of hunger around the world every single day.

The humanitarian situation is in a decline. Art, that should serve to teach how to live in beauty, in reality creates a cult of violence and immorality. Sport, that should demonstrate the best capabilities of a man, degenerated into a show, intrigues and corruption. We came to the society of unbridled consumption, where the ability to acquire wealth is equated to the highest virtue of poverty.

It is time to fix the problems focusing on its two major platforms - political and social.

Political - supporting established and developing democracies to reach their fullest potential.

Social - supporting and implementing the projects for the benefit of universal and humanitarian values.

Our goal is to help people globally to turn their own ideas and visions into a successful reality with professional fundraising and networking guidance. As a results-driven group of people, we are constantly looking for true visionaries and ambitious partners with the drive and flexibility to take their ideas and visions to the next level. We facilitate the exchange of information that drives forward our science and progressive health; reduces risk and fraud in the global industries, governments and civil society; promotes the noble rule of law and justice and fosters communities across our diverse society.

If what we do impacts the world, it also matters how we do it. We need your support to help to achieve our collective goal for a better future.

TOGETHER we can make a difference.

